SUBJECT INDEX 151
FOREWORD

It is with thanks and praise to Allah ﷻ that the Islamic Academy has the opportunity to present Maulana Sayyed ‘Abdu’l-Ḥayy al-Ḥasani’s ‘Tahdhīb al-Akhlaq: A Hadīth Guide for Personal and Social Conduct’. During his lifetime the Maulana collected a selection of ahādīth in small notebooks, but these were not published until after his death and then thanks to the efforts of his noble son, Sayyed Abul Hasan Ali Nadwi. Essentially, this collection of ahādīth aims to be relevant to today’s society and world and also act as an introduction to this science for students in their initial stages of Islamic education.

The task of refining behaviour and purifying the heart occupied one of the main objectives of the Prophet Muhammad’s mission. Wisdom manifests itself in good character and in good manners, and the Qur’ān itself uses the term ‘wisdom’ to denote these traits. As is stated in one hadīth: “If there is no good character there is no wisdom. If there is no wisdom there is no good character.” In attaining good character and wisdom, disciplining of the lower self is an essential ingredient, just as purifying one’s heart. As the Prophet ﷺ said: “I was only sent to perfect good character.”

Indeed there is no better exemplar of morality and good manners than the Prophet ﷺ, and his reported sayings and practices are but a guiding light for all Muslims: “Actions are only according to intentions. And everyone obtains what he intends.” To follow the hadīth is to discipline oneself, to free oneself of affectation, vice, blameworthy attributes and deceptions; in short, to rid oneself of base characteristics and destructive habits. To practice what is learned from the hadīth is to achieve good manners and good character, to refine behaviour and purify the heart: “Allah does not look at your bodies or your forms; He looks at your hearts.” Only through the cultivation of such qualities can wisdom be expressed.

Tahdhib al-Akhlaq is divided into forty-five chapters; each chapter deals with the hadith of various Traditionalists on issues ranging from tauhid, to earning a living, the treatment of animals, of neighbours, of one’s family, modesty, taqwa and supplication. Most chapters are preceded by relevant ayats from the Qur’an and these reveal how the hadith mirror Qur’anic teachings; “Anyone who introduces an innovation in this affair of ours which is not part of it, it will be rejected.” All in all the Maulana’s collection answers the most pertinent questions of the day, for example, on respecting one’s parent, on work, contracts and obligations, moderation in all things and keeping good company: “Abandon that which gives you doubt for that which gives you no doubt.” To read these ahadith, to understand them and put them into practice is to set oneself up, morally and spiritually, for life. In this way then the ahadith become religious knowledge and prophetic medicine.

Anyone who wishes to seek knowledge of the din will benefit greatly from Tahdhib al-Akhlaq as in this short volume the goals of the prophetic mission are fulfilled: namely, refining character, purifying the heart and striving to reach total submission to Allah: “The greatness of the reward is from the greatness of the trial. When Allah, Exalted is He, loves a person, He tests them.” In this respect, these ahadith aid the cleansing of the outward and the inward and serve to guide people on the path of salvation.

I would like to thank sister Aisha Bewley, brother Yacub Johnson, Abu Mustafa, Sarah Moore, my daughter Su’ad and all those who have participated in the production of this volume. May Allah reward all of them and accept this work from us and make it a source of guidance for Muslims the world over.

INTRODUCTION

Praise belongs to Allah, the Lord of the worlds, and peace be upon the noblest of the Messengers and the Seal of the Prophets, Muhammad, the pure, the good, the truthful and trustworthy, and upon his family and his excellent Companions, and those who follow them in doing good until the Day of Repayment.

Allah Most High has mentioned the main goals of the mission of Muhammad ﷺ, and its principal benefits in the same manner in each of four verses of the Wise Qurʾān. He ﷺ mentions the supplication of His intimate friend Ibrahīm, peace be upon him, the ancestor of the Prophet ﷺ, the founder of the naturally monothestic (ḥanīf) religion, and the one at whose hand the construction of the House was completed: “Our Lord! Send amongst them a Messenger of their own who shall rehearse Thy Signs to them and instruct them in Scripture and Wisdom, and purify them. For Thou art the Exalted in Might, the Wise.” (2: 129) He ﷺ mentions these goals and benefits in the same way in a display of His generosity and a reminder of His blessings, saying: “A similar (favour have ye already received) in that We have sent among you a Messenger of your own, rehearsing to you Our Signs, and purifying you, and instructing you in Scripture and Wisdom, and teaching you what ye did not know. Then do ye remember Me; I will remember you. Be grateful to Me and reject not faith.” (2: 151–152) He ﷺ mentions them in this same fashion when He ﷺ talks of the vastness of His blessing on the community in which He ﷺ sent the Messenger, and His great generosity to them, saying: “Allah did confer a great favour on the believers when He sent among them a Messenger from among themselves, rehearsing unto them the Signs of Allah, purifying them, and instructing them in Scripture and Wisdom, even though before that, they had been in manifest error.” (3: 164)

He also mentions these goals and benefits collectively in Sūrah al-Jumu‘ah, where He talks of the Arabs who were first to have the good fortune of this Prophetic mission, and amongst whom its blessed and pleasing effects appeared; how they were followed then by the non-Arabs so that the whole world experienced this good fortune; and how this mission will remain through the ages “A goodly tree, whose root is firmly fixed, and its branches (reach) to the heavens. It brings forth its fruit at all times, by the leave of its Lord.” (14: 24–25) This noble verse encompasses the beginning of this blessing, its expansion and spread, and its transmission from one land to another, one generation to another, and one age to another. It mentions the everlasting and abiding nature of the blessing in that the bounty of Allah has no end and no limitation. Every age and every generation receives its share of it, “A gift without end”. (11: 108)

With this addition and expression of favour, these verses complete the previous ones in His saying: “It is He Who has sent amongst the Unlettered a messenger from among themselves, to rehearse to them His Signs, to purify them, and to instruct them in Scripture and Wisdom – although they had been, before, in manifest error; as well as (to confer all these benefits upon) others of them, who have not already joined them. And He is exalted in Might, Wise. Such is the Bounty of Allah, which He bestows on whom He will, and Allah is the Lord of the highest bounty.” (62: 2–4)

Thus the recitation and teaching of the Book, the teaching of wisdom and the purification of the heart are among the primary goals of the mission. They are the four pillars of the Call to Allah and the way in which the reforming and educative miracle of this Prophethood is most completely expressed. Everything else besides this, in terms of legal codification and legislation, legal rulings and details of law, and governance and fighting in the path of Allah, are consequences and results of these goals, inherent in them and fulfilling them. So it is clear that the task of refining behaviour and purifying the heart occupies a significant position in the sphere of the Prophetic call and is among the main objectives of the mission of Muhammad ﷺ. The Qur‘ān indicates that good character and the good manners of Islam are among the most important ways in which wisdom manifests itself. Indeed the Qur‘ān often uses the term “wisdom” for these good traits of character and manners.

In Sūrah al-‘Isrā’, Allah ﷻ mentions His fundamental ethical teachings in His words, “Thy Lord hath decreed that ye worship none but Him, and that ye be kind to parents. Whether one or both of them attain old age in thy life, say not to them a word of contempt, nor repel them, but address them in terms of honour. And, out of kindness, lower to them the wing of humility, and say: ‘My Lord! bestow on them Thy Mercy even as they cherished me in childhood.’ Your Lord knoweth best what is in your hearts: if ye do deeds of righteousness, verily He is Most Forgiving to those who turn to Him again and again (in true penitence). And render to the kindred their due rights, as (also) to those in want, and to the wayfarer: But squander not (your wealth) in the manner of a spendthrift. Verily spendthrifts are brothers of Satans. And Satan is to His Lord (Himself) ungrateful. And even if thou hast to turn away from them in pursuit of the Mercy from thy Lord which thou dost expect, yet speak to them a word of easy kindness. Make not thy hand tied (like a niggard’s) to thy neck, nor stretch it forth to its utmost reach, so that thou become blameworthy and destitute. Verily thy Lord doth provide sustenance in abundance for whom He pleaseth, and straiten it; for He doth know and regard all His servants. Kill not your children for fear of want: We shall provide sustenance for them as well as for you: verily the killing of them is a great sin. Nor come nigh to adultery: for it is an indecent (deed) and an evil way. Nor take life — which Allah has made sacred — except for just cause. And if anyone is slain wrongfully, We have given his heir authority (to demand Qiṣāṣ or to forgive): but let him not exceed bounds in the matter of taking life, for he is helped (by the Law). Come not nigh to the orphan’s property except to improve it, until he attains the age of full strength, and fulfil (every) engagement, for every engagement will be enquired into (on the Day of Reckoning). Give full measure when ye measure, and weigh with a balance that is straight: that is better and fairer in the final determination. And pursue not that of which thou hast no knowledge; for surely the hearing, the sight, the heart, all of those shall be questioned about that. Nor walk on the earth with insolence: for thou canst not rend the earth asunder, nor reach the mountains in height. Of all such things the evil is hateful in the sight of thy Lord.” (17: 23-38)

These sixteen verses contain the prohibition of shirk; the command to be good to parents and behave humbly towards them, and to give to relatives, the poor and travellers, and speak kindly to them; the prohibition of squandering wealth, of excessive generosity or meanness, of killing children, of fornication, of killing anyone without a legal right, of exceeding the limits in retaliation, and of consuming an orphan’s property except by legal right; the command to fulfil contracts, and to give full weight and measure; and the prohibition of arrogance and insolence. After concluding these ethical teachings, which form a common ground on which all religions and communities meet, as do the natural upright disposition of humanity, and all sound intellects, Allah גכ completes them with His words, “These are among the (precepts of) wisdom, which thy Lord has revealed to thee.” (17: 39)

That is also the way of the Qur’ān in Sūrah Luqman, except that in Sūrah al-Isrā‘ the mention of wisdom comes at the end of the subject, while in Sūrah Luqman it comes at the beginning. Before talking of Luqman’s ethical teachings, in terms of the prohibition of shirk; recognition of the honour accorded to parents, and obedience to them in what is acceptable; following the path of those who have turned wholly to Allah; fear of Allah גכ in every matter, whether small or large; establishing prayer; enjoining good and forbidding evil; patience in the face of misfortune; not looking down on people, nor being conceited and arrogant; the instruction to adopt a middle course in all matters – to be moderate in pace when walking and not to raise the voice (all of which can be found in His words from “Behold, Luqman said to his son by way of instruction: ‘O my son! Join not in worship (others) with Allah: for false worship is indeed the highest wrong-doing.’” up to “And be moderate in thy pace, and lower thy voice; for the harshest of sounds without doubt is the braying of the ass.” (31: 13-19)) – before talking of that, Allah opens the subject by saying, “We bestowed wisdom on Luqman: ‘Show (thy) gratitude to Allah.’ And whoever is grateful does so to the profit of his own soul: but if any is ungrateful, verily Allah is free of all wants, worthy of all praise.” (31: 12) Thus He ﷺ indicates that everything that Luqmān uttered, and the ethical instruction and wise counsel that emerged from him, flowed solely from this wisdom with which Allah ﷺ had honoured Luqmān, and with which He ﷺ singled him out from among his contemporaries: its merit derived from this divine gift and the outstanding moral behaviour that was his natural disposition, and which he took on and was given success in maintaining. For that reason, in the text of this verse, after mentioning the bestowal of this wisdom, He ﷺ says, “‘Show (thy) gratitude to Allah. And whoever is grateful does so to the profit of his own soul: but if any is ungrateful, verily Allah is free of all wants, worthy of all praise.”

Thus the word “wisdom” appears in the course of discussing good character and pleasing and noble qualities, such as: spending one’s wealth in the way of Allah ﷺ, then not following it up with reminders of one’s generosity or words and actions that injure (those who receive the charity); the exhortation to speak kindly and forgive, and to beware of hypocrisy (in performing good actions only for the sake of being seen to do so) and of disbelief in Allah ﷺ; the fear of charity being in vain and good deeds being brought to nothing (by wrong intention or disbelief); putting the self right and keeping it thus; giving from the best of one’s wealth and not singling out the worst of it (to be given in charity); the prohibition of excessive fear of poverty and of abandoning oneself to Satan. For example, read the words of Allah ﷺ Most High from “The parable of those who spend their substance in the way of Allah” until “The Evil One threatens you with poverty and bids you to conduct unseemly. Allah promiseth you His forgiveness and bounties. And Allah careth for all and He knoweth all things.” (2: 261–268), all of which He ﷺ concludes with the words, “He granteth wisdom to whom He pleaseth; and He to whom wisdom is granted receiveth indeed a benefit overflowing; but none will grasp the Message but men of understanding.” (2: 269)

All of this shows that, in the usage of the Qur’ān, wisdom has a profound and unbreakable connection to good character. If there is no good character there is no wisdom. If there is no wisdom there is no good character. Once that is established, then the teaching of good character, the disciplining of the lower self, and the purification of the heart (none of which is complete without the correcting of beliefs, purification from the impurities of shirk and ignorance, and taking on sound knowledge) are seen to occupy a significant position in the task of prophethood, and form an important goal among the principal aims of the prophetic mission, and all fall under the heading of teaching wisdom, and purification.

The Prophet (ﷺ) mentioned this sublime objective of his mission in a single definitive phrase, when he said: "I was only sent to perfect good character." (Muwatta) At the same time he was the most perfect example of this objective and the best model to be followed to achieve it. The Qur'ān says, "And thou (standest) on an exalted standard of character." (68: 4), and when 'Ā’ishah (ﷺ) was asked about the character of the Prophet (ﷺ) she said, "His character was the Qur'ān." (Muslim) That is why Allah calls on mankind to follow him and to take him as a perfect and enduring model, when He (ﷻ) says: "Ye have indeed in the Messenger of Allah a beautiful pattern (of conduct) for any one whose hope is in Allah and the Final Day, and who engages much in the remembrance of Allah," (33: 21) and He (ﷻ) says, "Say: 'If ye do love Allah, follow me: Allah will love you and forgive you your sins. For Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.'" (3: 31)

This wisdom and purification were among the greatest fruits of being in the company of the Prophet (ﷺ). So under his care a generation grew up who were adorned with the best possible and noblest qualities of character and who were free of base characteristics, destructive habits, blameworthy qualities, destructive aspects of the self, remnants of the days of ignorance, and the deceptions of Satan. The Qur'ān testifies to the uprightness of their hearts, their righteousness, and their achieving the pinnacle of refinement of character and purification of the self. It says: "And know that among you is Allah's Messenger. Where be, in many matters, to follow your (wishes), ye would certainly fall into misfortune. But Allah has endeared the Faith to you, and has made it beautiful in your hearts, and He has made hateful to you unbelief, wickedness, and rebellion. Such indeed are those who walk in righteousness – a grace and favour from Allah, and Allah is full of Knowledge and Wisdom.” (49: 7–8)

The Messenger of Allah ﷺ testified on their behalf when he said, “The best of mankind are my generation.” (Bukhārī), and in another narration, “The best of my community is my generation.” (Bukhārī) One of their companions (‘Abdullāh ibn Mas‘ūd ﷺ) testified on their behalf with a succinct far-reaching statement when he said of them that they were “the people with the most pious hearts and the deepest knowledge, and they were the least in affectation.” One of their enemies even testified for them by saying, “They are horsemen by day and monks by night. They only take food from those under their protection if they pay for it and they only enter with peace. They follow those they fight until they catch up with them.” Another said, “They stand in prayer by night and fast by day. They fulfil their covenants and enjoin the right and forbid the wrong and insist on justice from one another.”

History resounds with reports of their noble character and virtuous actions, and there are countless stories about their good habits and noble qualities, their intense fear of Allah ﷻ, their making do with little of this world, their preferring the Next World over this world, their preferring others to themselves even when they had more right, their conveying trusts to their owners, their testifying to the truth even to their own detriment, or that of their parents or their relatives, their establishing other’s rights as opposed to their own, their supporting the Truth, their anger for the sake of Allah ﷻ and His Messenger ﷺ, their love and hate for the sake of Allah ﷻ, their mercy for all created beings and for the weak, their willingness to share what they had and the high degree to which they established equality of rights, their adherence to truth and justice in every situation, their moderation and temperateness in everything, and so many other noble traits and beautiful qualities which it is unusual to find concentrated in one individual or even one generation.

All these things have been conveyed to us by multiple paths of transmission and are conceded to be true by both Muslims and non-Muslims and all of them derive directly from the teaching of the Prophet ﷺ and the purification extolled by the Qur’ān and mentioned frequently as one of the objectives and benefits of the prophetic mission. The Companions, may Allah be pleased with them all, are nothing more than the ripe crop of Islam, the planted seedlings of prophethood, the products of the prophetic teaching and of the Muḥammadan purification process. And their reality is expressed in the popular verses:

Handicrafts whose craftsman excelled, so they too excelled
And seedlings whose planter was pleasing so they became pleasing too

We were like arrows when they hit their targets,
So too had the archer who let them fly.

When this companionship ended and the Messenger ﷺ joined the Highest Companion ﷺ — as is the inevitable custom of Allah ﷻ with His creation — the recorded words of the Prophet took the place of his company, if anything could possibly take his place, and filled the void which opened up in the life of the Muslims, taking up, in as far as such a thing is possible, the task of refinement and instruction he had undertaken while he was alive. That was the most important subject, and the greatest aim and mission of this elevated science, knowledge of the recorded words and deeds of the Prophet ﷺ. With this knowledge, those who engaged in it renewed their belief, revived their hearts, and purified their souls, putting straight what was crooked in them, rectifying what was corrupt, and healing what was sick. This science was in itself religious knowledge and prophetic medicine. It was fiqh and “wisdom”. It was the master and teacher, the educator and instructor all at the same time, in addition to which they needed no other knowledge to cultivate their intellects, to rectify their moral character, to gain understanding of the dīn, and to reach the highest ranks of iḥsān and certainty.

However, over the passage of time, due to the effect of natural, social and legislative factors, the knowledge of ḥadīth began to be confined to the science of aḥkām (legal rulings). Also the aḥādīth form one of the bases of Islamic Jurisprudence (uṣūl al-fiqh) and one of the main sources of Islamic law, and Islamic society had naturally and understandably turned its attention to the elaboration of detail in jurisprudence and to the deduction of judicial principles, both out of necessity and because of the emergence of disagreements between the opinions of the Fuqahāʾ, and the appearance of schools of Islamic Jurisprudence. As a result, the legalistic and argumentative aspects gained ascendancy over the educational and moral factors in recording the ḥadīth, in its teaching and commentary, and in all related fields. Moreover, these aspects became the overwhelming concern of ḥadīth scholars, the theme closest to the hearts of its teachers and authors, and their watchword, around which their study revolved, in which they vied for glory and competed with one another, and for the sake of which they expended all their efforts. Indeed, that too was a natural and understandable development dictated by the nature of their situation, differing times, and the logic of necessity. This is why many of those who sought the levels of iḥsān (excellence) and yaqīn (certainty), and were concerned with the refinement of their character and the purification of their souls sought refuge in a different knowledge (such as taṣawwuf) and with different men in order to quench their thirst, to fill their hearts, and to satisfy a need in their souls.

However, many great ḥadīth scholars felt the need of all Muslims, and particularly the seekers of knowledge of the dīn and its inner reality, for a reliable collection of aḥādīth of the Prophet (ﷺ) whose subject matter was confined to the refinement of moral character, the purification of the heart, the acquisition of virtues and elimination of vices, the attainment of the levels of iḥsān and yaqīn, and entry into the ranks of the absolutely sincere and truthful. To this end, they wrote books both small and large, both famous and unknown. Three among them are well-known and achieved considerable acceptance, and the scholars of this discipline, both ancient and modern, have devoted their attention to them. One of them is the book al-Adab al-Mufrad, by the accepted leader in the field of ḥadīth, Imām Muḥammad ibn Ḥiṣām al-Bukhārī (194–256 AH), the author of the famous Sahih Collection al-Jāmiʿ as-Saḥih. The second is the book at-Tārīkh wa-t-Tarhib, by the great Ḥāfiz Zakiyyu’d-dīn ‘Abdu’l-ʿAzīz ibn ‘Abdi’l-Qawwāl, Abū Muḥammad al-Mundhirī ad-Dimashqī (581–656 AH). The third is the Riyyād is-Sāliḥin min Kalāmi Sayyid al-Mursalin, by Imām Abū Zakariyyā Muḥyiddīn Yaḥyā an-Nawawi (631–676 AH), the author of the commentary on the Šāhīḥ of Muslim, and of other great books about ḥadīth and the men who transmitted them.

Al-Adab al-Mufrad, as its name indicates, deals with behaviour and morals. It has not obtained the renown and attention befitting the illustriousness of its author and has not been selected as teaching material. It has not been accorded the appropriate level of concern, to such an extent that it was not made available in printed form till relatively recently.

At-Tarqihīb waT Tarqihīb by al-Mundhirī, is a large and compendious collection which, despite its illustriousness, is not useful in the initial stages of study of the noble ḥadīth. It contains every type of ḥadīth, its author, may Allah ™ give him an ample reward, having not confined himself only to sound and accepted ḥadīth or to the alī ḥadīth of the six authentic collections.

As for the Riyāḍ as-Šāhīḥ, though it has begun to be accepted, like most of the books of Imam an-Nawawī, the interest shown in it is of comparatively recent origin. It has now been republished several times and made part of the curriculum in many religious schools, and most people active in the sphere of da'wah, reform, and education give it their attention. It has lately become very widespread but it is quite large and of a high standard in relation to the capacities of most young students in religious schools.

In the light of this, many educators and people dealing with the correct upbringing of young people in general, and of those studying in religious schools in particular, have become aware of the need for a small book, not burdensome, and written in a simple style, in which the author confines himself to the important questions of behaviour and extracts from the great treasury of the Qur'ān, Sunnah and the collections of ḥadīth whatever is needed most, can easily be acted upon, and is most universal in benefit. It should provide a sound

1. We are grateful to Allah, the Exalted, that we have been able to translate the above-mentioned three books. As for At-Tarqihīb waT Tarqihīb, we used the version abridged by Imam Ḥāfiz ibn Ḥajar, may Allah have mercy on him, which was edited and published by Maulānā Ḥabīb-ur-Raḥmān A'zami (d. 1992), who is regarded as one of the greatest scholars of the sciences of Ḥadīth and Ṣaḥīḥ of Ṣaḥīḥ and Ṣaḥīḥ of the transmitters of ḥadīth – Iqbal Ahmad A'zami.
foundation and be an illuminating lamp for young students. It should act as a guide for them in their lives and encourage them to obedience and good actions, and warn them against depravity and blameworthy characteristics. It should help them to prepare their hearts and their understanding for the approach to this pure source and partaking of its abundant waters. It should also serve as an introduction to the books which they will study later in this field.

Because of my close relationship with him and my preoccupation with his scholarly works, I knew that my father, Maulānā `Abdu’ll-Ḥayy al-Ḥasanī, had composed a small book on this subject entitled Tālkhīṣ al-Akhbār, for which he had written a commentary spanning several notebooks, entitled Muntaha’l-Ajkār fī Sharḥ Tālkhīṣ al-Akhbār. I knew of his immense love for the ḥadīth of the Prophet ﷺ, his unsurpassing efforts to obtain them from the Imāms of this science, his distinction among his contemporaries in this science, and his high rank in it. However, I was engaged in publishing his books about history and biographies, like Nuzhatu’l-Khawātir, ath-Thaqāfah al-Islāmiyyah fi’l-Hind, and al-Hind fi’l-‘Āhd al-Islāmī and this distracted me from paying attention to this book and making it available to people.

When I perceived the desire of some educators and patrons of religious schools for an intermediate book on this subject which would be easy to teach, I became interested in this book of my father and dug it out from among his books and manuscripts. I read it with careful attention and consideration and found it to be a valuable book, in spite of its small size, in which the author had confined himself to sound ḥadīth from the six authentic collections, predominantly from the collections of al-Bukhārī and Muslim. It shows the excellence of the author’s choice, as is the case in all his books, the soundness of his taste, his open-mindedness in selection of ḥadīth and in giving preference to some ḥadīth over others, and his avoidance of being partisan. He was familiar with the spirit of the age, and directly aware of the abilities of students in the religious institutes because for a time he taught in the Dār al-‘Ulūm of the Nadwatu’l-‘Ulamā’ (Council of Religious Scholars), and he also spent a period as director of the Nadwatu’l-‘Ulamā’ and supervisor of education in the Dār al-‘Ulūm connected to it.
He added useful comments to the book in his own hand, being concerned with the explanation of unusual words, making the meaning of the ahādīth clear, and clarifying their aims where such clarification was necessary. In this way the book came to be complete in itself, achieving the required aim, conforming with both the spirit of the age and the level of scholarship of the initial stages of education.

That is why my determination to publish this religious and educational work is sound, for it fulfils the urgent need of the religious schools and facilitates the spread of the ḥadīth, as well as being a kindness to my father and going some way towards fulfilling the duty I owe him. Hopefully by publishing the book and adding it to those already published on this subject, I will share in the reward for directing the teaching of the ahādīth of the Prophet ﷺ towards the aim which was one of the most important goals of the prophetic mission: namely the purification of the heart, the refinement of moral character, and the struggle to reach the rank of iḥsān, and for according that aim its due importance in the dīn. We ask Allah ﷻ to benefit by it all those seeking knowledge of the dīn and indeed all Muslims, and to make it a treasury of good for its author, and a means to righteous action for all who strive on its behalf and devote their effort to it.

May Allah ﷻ bless the best of His creation, our leader and master Muhammad, and his family and all his Companions, and grant them peace.

AUTHOR’S PREFACE

Praise belongs to Allah ﷻ, the Lord of the worlds. The good outcome is for the Godfearing. There is no aggression except against wrongdoers. I testify that there is no god but Allah ﷻ alone with no partner, the Lord of the universe and the God of the Messengers. I testify that our master Muḥammad ﷺ is His slave and Messenger, who was sent as a mercy to the worlds, as a path for travellers, and as proof against all who are legally obligated (to observe the precepts of Islam). May Allah ﷻ bless him and his noble family and pure Companions throughout time, and grant them abundant peace.

ʿAbdu’l-Ḥayy ibn Fakhru’d-Dīn ibn ʿAbdu’l-ʿAlī, totally dependent on Allah, the Truly Independent, says: This is a summary of reports related from the Prophet ﷺ who was protected from error. I have chosen them from sound aḥādīth which deal with refinement of character, purification of the heart, and the cleansing of the outward and inward, in the hope that Allah will benefit me through it on the Day of Repayment, that it will encourage those who read it to perform good deeds, and that it will guide to the path of salvation in this life and after death. We seek refuge in Allah ﷻ, the All-Glorious, from knowledge which does not benefit, a heart which is not humble, a self whose appetites are never satisfied, and a supplication which is not accepted. He is sufficient unto me and the best Guardian, the best Protector and the best Helper.

Sayyed ʿAbduʾl-Ḥayy al-Ḥasanī
Allah, Exalted is He, says: "And your God is One God: There is no god but He, Most Gracious, Most Merciful." (2: 163)

He ﷻ says: "Allah! There is no god but He – the Living, the Self-subsisting, Eternal. No shumber can seize Him nor sleep." (2: 255)

He ﷻ says: "Allah (Himself) is witness that there is no god but He, as are His angels, and those endued with knowledge, standing firm on justice. There is no god but He, the Exalted in Power, the Wise." (3: 18)

He ﷻ says: "Say: ‘O People of the Book! Come to common terms as between us and you: that we worship none but Allah; that we associate no partners with Him; that we erect not, from among ourselves, lords and patrons other than Allah.’ If then they turn back, say ye: ‘Bear witness that we are Muslims (bowing to Allah’s will).’” (3: 64)

He ﷻ says: "It is not (possible) that a man, to whom is given the Book, and Wisdom, and the Prophetic Office, should say to people: ‘Be ye my worshippers rather than Allah’s.’ On the contrary, (he would say): ‘Be ye worshippers of Him Who is truly the Cherisher of all: for ye have taught the Book and ye have studied it earnestly.’” (3: 79)

He ﷻ says: "With Him are the keys of the Unseen, the treasures that none knoweth but He. He knoweth whatever there is on the earth and in the sea. Not a leaf doth fall but with His knowledge: there is not a grain in the darkness (or depth) of the earth, nor anything fresh or dry (green or withered), but is inscribed in a Record Clear.” (6: 59)

He ﷻ says: "He is the Originator of the heavens and the earth: How can He have a son when He hath no consort? He created all things, and He hath full knowledge of all things. That is Allah, your Lord! There is no god but He, the Creator of all things; then worship ye Him; and He hath power to dispose of all affairs.” (6: 101–102)

He ﷻ says: “Allah is He, than Whom there is no other god — Who knows (all things) both secret and open; He is the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful. Allah is He, than Whom there is no other god — The Sovereign, the Holy One, the Source of Peace (and Perfection), the Guardian of Faith, the Preserver of Safety, the Exalted in Might, the Irresistible, the Supreme: Glory to Allah! (High is He) above the partners they attribute to Him. He is Allah, the Creator, the Evolver, the Bestower of Forms (or colours). To Him belong the Most Beautiful Names. Whatever is in the heavens and the earth doth declare His praises and glory; and He is the exalted in Might, the Wise.” (59: 22–24)

He ﷻ says: “Allah! There is no god but He — the Living, the Self-subsisting, Eternal. No slumber can seize Him nor sleep. His are all things in the heavens and on earth. Who is there can intercede in His presence except as He permitteth? He knoweth what (appeareth to His creatures as) before or after or behind them. Nor shall they compass aught of His knowledge except as He willeth.” (2: 255)

He ﷻ says: “Say: ‘He is Allah, the One and Only; Allah, the Eternal, Absolute. He begetteth not nor is He begotten, and there is none like unto Him.’” (112: 1–4)

He ﷻ says: “Verily the knowledge of the Hour is with Allah (alone). It is He Who sends down rain, and He Who knows what is in the wombs. No one knows what it is that he will earn tomorrow; nor does anyone know in what land he is to die.” (31: 34)

He ﷻ says, relating from Yusuf: “O my two companions of the prison! (I ask you): are many lords differing among themselves better, or Allah, the One, Supreme and Irresistible? If not Him, ye worship nothing but names which ye have named — ye and your fathers — for which Allah hath sent down no authority; the Command is for none but Allah. He hath commanded that ye worship none but Him. That is the right religion, but most men understand not.” (12: 39–40)
He says: “Say: ‘I am but a man like yourselves, (but) the inspiration has come to me, that your God is One God. Whoever expects to meet his Lord, let him work righteousness, and in the worship of his Lord admit no one as partner.” (18: 110)

1. It is reported from ‘Abdullāh b. ‘Abbās  that when the Messenger of Allah sent Mu‘ādh ibn Jabal to the people of Yemen he said, “You are going to a nation who are among the People of the Book. The first thing you call them to should be the recognition of Allah’s oneness. When they acknowledge that, then tell them that Allah has made the five prayers obligatory on them daily.” (Bukhārī)

2. It is reported that Mu‘ādh ibn Jabal said that the Prophet said, “O Mu‘ādh! Do you know what is Allah’s right on His slaves?” He said, “Allah and His Messenger know best.” He said, “That they worship Him and not associate anything with Him. Do you know what is their right on Him?” He said, “Allah and His Messenger know best.” He said, “That He does not punish them.” (Bukhārī)

3. It is reported from ‘Abdullāh Ibn ‘Umar  that the Prophet said, “The keys to the Unseen are five things which only Allah knows: no one knows what is inside the wombs except Allah; no one knows what will happen tomorrow except Allah; no one knows when the rain will come except Allah; no soul knows what land it will die in except Allah; and no one knows when the Last Hour will come except Allah.” (Bukhārī)

4. It is reported that Zayd b. Khālid al-Juhāni  said, “The Messenger of Allah led us in the morning prayer at Ḥudaybiyyah after rain had fallen in the night. When he finished, he faced the people and said, ‘Do you know what your Lord has said?’ They said, ‘Allah and His Messenger know best.’ He said, ‘He said, “Some of my slaves have reached the morning believing in Me and some disbelieving. As for the one who said, ‘It rained upon us by the bounty of Allah’, he is the one who believes in Me and disbelieves in the stars; and as for the one who said, ‘It rained upon us through (the setting of) such-and-such a star,' he is the one who disbelieves in Me and believes in the stars.” ' ” (Muslim)

5. It is reported that Mu’āwiyah ibn al-Hakam ﺪ said, “I said, ‘Messenger of Allah, I am newly come from Jāhiliyyah. Allah has brought us Islam but some men among us still go to the soothsayers.’ He said, “Do not go to them.” ’ I said, ‘Some men among us still look for bad omens.’ He said, ‘That is something which they find in their hearts, but they should not let it deter them.’ I said, ‘Some men among us draw lines (to predict the future).’ He said, ‘One of the Prophets used to draw such lines. If someone’s drawing lines corresponds to what he (that Prophet) used to do, that is all right.’ ” (Muslim)

6. It is reported from Abū Hurayrah ﺪ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, “There is no automatic contagion,’ no bad omens, no avenging spirit, and no serpent biting the hungry belly.” (Bukhārī)

Bear Allah in mind and you will find Him before you. When you ask, ask Allah. When you seek help, seek Allah’s help. Know that if the whole community of Muslims were to agree to help you in some way, they could not help you in any way except what Allah Most High has decreed for you. And if the whole community were to agree to harm you in some way, they could not harm you in any way except what Allah has decreed for you. The pens have been lifted and the pages are dry.’ ” (Tirmidhī)

1. That is, catching a disease only happens by the will of Allah, not because of being close to somebody with that disease.

2. Ḥamālah: a superstitious belief of the pre-Islamic Arabs, that the unavenged spirit of a murdered person took the form of a night bird.

3. Another pre-Islamic superstition.

4. What will happen has already been decreed and nothing will change that.
8. It is reported that Anas  said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, "Let each of you ask his Lord for all his needs, to the extent that he even asks Him for a sandal-strap when it is broken." (Tirmidhî)

9. It is related that 'Adî ibn Ḥātim  said, "I went to the Prophet ﷺ with a gold cross on my neck. He said, 'O 'Adî! Throw away this idol.' I heard him recite from Sūrah Barā’ah [al-Tawbah], 'They take their priests and their anchorites to be their lords in derogation of Allah.' (9: 31) He said, 'They did not actually worship them, but when they made something lawful for them, they also considered it lawful, and when they made something unlawful for them, they considered it unlawful.' (Tirmidhî)

10. It is reported that Qays ibn Sa’d ibn ‘Ubādah al-Ansārī  said, "I went to al-Ḥīrah and saw them prostrating to one of their leaders. I said to myself, 'It would be more fitting for the people to prostrate to the Messenger of Allah.' So when I came to the Messenger of Allah ﷺ I told him, 'I went to al-Ḥīrah and saw the people prostrating to one of their leaders, yet you have more right to be prostrated to.' He said to me, 'Do you think that if you were to pass by my grave, you would prostrate to it?' I said, 'No.' He said, 'Then do not do that.' " (Abū Dāwūd)

11. It is reported that Jubayr ibn Muṭ‘im  said, "A bedouin came to the Messenger of Allah ﷺ and said, 'People are struggling, families are starving, wealth has been exhausted, and the livestock has perished. Ask Allah to give us rain! We ask you to intercede with Allah on our behalf and we ask Allah to intercede with you on our behalf.' The Prophet ﷺ said, 'Glory be to Allah! Glory be to Allah!' He continued to say that until unease about it was visible in the faces of his Companions. Then he said, 'Woe to you! It is not possible to ask Allah to intercede with any of His creation. Allah’s situation is far beyond that!' " (Abū Dāwūd)

12. It is reported that ar-Rubayyi’ bint Mu‘awwidh ibn ‘Afrī¶ said, "The Prophet ﷺ came in after my marriage had been consummated and sat on my bed just like you are sitting now, and our girls started beating the tambourines and reciting verses about the elder men of my family who had been martyred at Badr. Then one of them said, ‘Among us is a Prophet who knows what will happen tomorrow.’
And he said, ‘Leave this and recite what you were reciting before.’”

14. It is reported that Abū Hurayrah ﷺ said that the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) said, “None of you should say, ‘‘abdī (my slave)’ or ‘amātī (my slave-girl)’. All of you are slaves of Allah. Instead you should say, ‘ghulāmī (my boy), jāriyatī (my girl) and fatāya (my lad) and fatāni (my young lady).’ Nor should a slave say, ‘rabbī (my lord)’.
Instead he should say, ‘sayyidī (my owner)’, or ‘mawlāya (my master)’.” One variant has, “Nor should a slave say to his owner, ‘mawlāya (my master)’. Your Master is Allah.” (Muslim)

15. It is reported that Ibn ‘Umar ﷺ said that the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) said, “Indeed Allah forbids you to swear by your fathers.
Whoever is going to swear, should swear by Allah or be silent.” (Bukhārī,

ﷺ kiss the Black Stone, saying, ‘I know that you are just a stone which can neither harm nor help. If I had not seen the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) kiss you, I would not have kissed you either.’” (Bukhārī, Muslim)
SINCERITY IN WORSHIP

Sincerity is to devote oneself in obedience to Allah ﷻ alone.

Allah ﷻ says: "And they have been commanded no more than this: to worship Allah, offering Him sincere devotion, being true (in faith); to establish regular prayer; and to practise regular charity; and that is the religion right and straight." (98: 5)

He ﷻ says: "It is not their meat nor their blood that reaches Allah. It is your piety that reaches Him." (22: 37)

He ﷻ says: "Cancel not your charity by reminders of your generosity or by hurting [others] — like those who spend their substance to be seen of men." (2: 264)

He ﷻ says: "They stand without earnestness to be seen of men, but little do they hold Allah in remembrance." (4: 142)

He ﷻ says: "Is it not to Allah that sincere devotion is due?" (39: 3)

17. It is related that 'Abdullah ibn 'Umar ﷺ said, "I heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say: 'Three men of a previous generation were travelling and took refuge for the night in a cave. They entered it and a rock fell down the mountain and blocked the entrance. They said, 'The only thing that will rescue us from this rock is to call on Allah invoking good actions we have done!' One of them said, 'O Allah, my parents were both old and it was my habit never to give milk in the evening either to my family or servants before giving it to them first. One day I went a long way in search of pasture for my flocks and did not reach them until they had already gone to bed. I milked their evening drink but found them asleep. I did not want to wake them nor to give my family or servants their evening drink before they had had theirs, so I remained with the cup in my hand waiting for them to wake up until dawn came. The children were at my feet, crying because of hunger. Then they woke up and drank their drink. O Allah, if I did that out of the desire for Your Face, then rescue us from the situation we are in with this rock.” The rock opened up a little but they still could not get out.
The second said, “O Allah! A girl cousin of mine was the person I loved more than any other. (Another variant has, ‘I used to love one of my uncle’s daughters with the most intense love it is possible for a man to have for a woman.’) I tried to seduce her and she refused me until, one year when she was in dire need, she came to me and I gave her a hundred and twenty dinār provided that she would let me do what I wanted with her. She agreed but when I was about to have my way with her, (one variant has, ‘when I was between her legs’) she said, ‘Fear Allah and do not break the seal without having the right to do so.’ Then I left her alone in spite of the fact that she was, of all people, the one I loved the most and also left her with the gold I had given her. O Allah, if I did that out of the desire for Your Face, then rescue us from our situation!” The rock moved a little further but they still could not get out. The third said, “O Allah, I employed some workers and gave all of them their wages except for one man who went off without taking what he was owed.
I invested his wage until it multiplied in value. After a time he came to me and said, ‘O man, pay me my wage!’ I said, ‘All the camels, cattle, sheep and slaves that you see here have come from your wage.’
He said, ‘Man, do not make fun of me?’ I said, ‘I am not making fun of you.’ He took them all and drove them off, not leaving anything.
O Allah, if I did that out of the desire for Your Face, then rescue us from the situation we are in!” “The rock moved away and they walked out.” (Bukhārī, Muslim and the wording is of Bukhārī)

18. It is related that Abū Hurayrah ☪ said, “I heard the Messenger of Allah ☪ say, ‘The first of people to be judged on the Day of Rising will be a man who was martyred. He will be brought and will be informed of the blessings he had and will acknowledge them. Allah will say, “What did you do with them?”
He will say, “I fought for You until I was martyred.” Allah will say, “You lie. Rather you fought so it would be said, ‘He is a bold man!’ And so it was said.” Then the command will be given and he will be dragged on his face until he is thrown into the Fire. There will also be a man who acquired knowledge and taught it and recited the Qur’ān. He will be brought forward and informed of his blessings which he will acknowledge. Allah will say, “What did you do with them?” He will say, “I acquired knowledge and taught it and I recited the Qur’ān for Your sake.” He will say, “You lie. Rather you studied so that it would be said, ‘He is a scholar!’ And you recited so that it would be said, ‘He is a reciter!’ And so it was said.” Then the command will be given and he will be dragged on his face until he is thrown into the Fire. There will also be a man to whom Allah gave a lot of wealth and all sorts of property. He will be brought and informed of his blessings which he will acknowledge. Allah will say, “What did you do with them?” He will say, “There was no path in which You like spending to be done but that I spent in it for You.” He will say, “You lie. Rather you did it so that it would be said, ‘He is generous.’ And so it was said.” Then the command will be given and he will be dragged on his face until he is thrown into the Fire.” (Muslim)

19. It is related that Abū Umāmah  said, “A man came to the Messenger of Allah  and said, ‘What do you think about a man who goes on military expeditions seeking material reward and fame?’ The Messenger of Allah  said, ‘He obtains nothing.’ He repeated it three times and the Messenger of Allah said, ‘He obtains nothing.’ Then he said, ‘Allah, the Mighty and Exalted, only accepts action that is done sincerely for Him and by which His Countenance is sought.” (Abū Dāwūd, an-Nasā’ī)

20. It is related from Anas ibn Mālik  that the Messenger of Allah  said, “Anyone who leaves this world with sincere devotion for Allah alone, and worshipping Him without partner, establishing the prayer and paying the zakāt, will die while Allah is pleased with him.” (Ibn Mājah)
21. It is related that Abū Hurayrah ﷺ said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, “Anyone who learns the kind of knowledge which should be used in seeking the Face of Allah, the Majestic and Great, and only learns it in order to obtain some of the goods of this world through it, will not experience the scent of the Garden on the Day of Rising.” (Abū Dāwūd)

22. Abū Hurayrah ﷺ said: I heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say, “Allah Almighty says, ‘I am He who is least in need of a partner. If anyone does an action, making other than Me a partner in it, I leave him to his partner.’ ” (Muslim)

23. It is related that Abū Hurayrah ﷺ said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, “At the end of time men will emerge who will seek this world through the din. They will wear sheep-skins for people to give the impression of meekness. Their tongues are sweeter than honey while their hearts are like those of wolves. Allah, the Mighty and Majestic, will say, ‘Are they deluding Me or are they insolent against Me? I swear by Myself that I will send on them from among themselves trials which will leave even the forbearing bewildered.’” (Tirmidhī)

24. It is related that Zayd ibn Thābit ﷺ said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, “May Allah have mercy on those who hear my words and convey them to others. If a Muslim’s heart possesses three traits it will never be affected by faithlessness, those of acting sincerely for Allah alone, giving good counsel to the leaders of the Muslims, and holding to the community. Their supplication encompasses those coming after them. If anyone has this world as his goal, Allah will afflict him with poverty and disperse his property and only what is written for him will come to him. If anyone has the Next World for his goal, Allah will put wealth in his heart and make his property sufficient for him and this world will come to him in spite of itself.” (Aḥmad, Darīmī and Ibn Mājah)

25. It is related that Abū Hurayrah ﷺ said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, “Allah does not look at your bodies or your forms; He looks at your hearts.” (Muslim)
26. It is related that 'Umar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb ﷺ said that he heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say, “Actions are only according to intentions. And everyone obtains what he intends. Anyone, therefore, who emigrates for the sake of Allah and His Messenger, his emigration is indeed to Allah and His Messenger. But anyone who emigrates to gain something of this world or to marry a woman, his emigration is for that to which he emigrated.”’ (Bukhārī, Muslim)

1. This is one of the major ahādīth around which the dīn is based. It is related from Imām Shāfi‘ī (may Allah have mercy on him) who said that this hadīth is the base of the third of all knowledge and it enters in seventy subjects of Islamic jurisprudence.
Allah, Exalted is He, says, "Nothing have We neglected in the Book." (6: 38)

He says, "If ye differ in anything among yourselves, refer it to Allah and the Messenger." (4: 59)

He says, "But no, by thy Lord, they can have no (real) Faith, until they make thee judge in all disputes between them, and find in their souls no resistance against thy decisions, but accept them with the fullest conviction." (4: 65)

He says, "The answer of the believers, when summoned to Allah and His Messenger, in order that he may judge between them, is no other than this: They say, 'We hear and we obey.'" (24: 51)

He says, "So take what the Messenger gives to you, and abstain from that which he forbids you." (59: 7)

He says, "Say: 'If ye do love Allah, follow me: Allah will love you and forgive you your sins.'" (3: 31)

He says, "Ye have indeed in the Messenger of Allah a beautiful pattern (of conduct) for any one whose hope is in Allah and the Final Day, and who engages much in the remembrance of Allah." (33: 21)

He says, "Let those beware who withstand the Messenger's order, lest some trial befall them, or a grievous penalty be inflicted on them." (24: 63)

27. It is related that Jābir said, "When the Messenger of Allah gave an address, his eyes would become red, he would raise his voice and he would become very angry until he was like someone admonishing an army who says, ‘sabbaḥakum, and massāḥkum (Guard yourselves against attack).’ He would say, ‘I have been sent at a time when the Last Hour is (near) like these two,’ and he joined together his index finger and middle finger. After glorifying Allah he would say, ‘The best speech is the Book of Allah. The best guidance is the guidance of Muḥammad (ﷺ). The worst of matters are the new ones (fabrications), and every innovation is misguidance.’ Then he would say, ‘I am closer to every believer than his own self. Whosoever leaves property, it is for his family. Whosoever leaves a debt or young children who need support, it is to me (to pay it) and on me (to support them).’ ” (Muslim)

28. It is related that al-‘Irāḍ ibn Sāriyah ﺪ ﺪ said, “The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) gave us a profound exhortation which made our hearts afraid and our eyes weep. We said, ‘O Messenger of Allah, it is an exhortation which is as if it were bidding us farewell, so advise us.’ He said, ‘I commend you to be fearful of Allah and to hear and obey, even if an [Abyssinian] slave is put in command over you. Any among you who live long will see much disagreement, so you must hold to my Sunnah and the Sunnah of the rightly-guided and guiding Caliphs. Hold onto it with your teeth. Beware of innovated matters. For every new thing in the religion is innovation and every innovation is misguidance.’ ” (Abū Dāwūd, Tirmidhī)

29. It is related from Abū Mūsā al-Asbā’ī ﺪ that the Prophet (ﷺ) said, “The example of me and that with which Allah has sent me is that of a man who comes to some people and says, ‘O people! I have seen with my own eyes an army coming. I am an open warner to you, so save yourselves! Save yourselves!’ A group of them obey him and go out stealthily during the night and are safe while another group deny him and so the army captures them in the morning and kills them. That is the example of those who obey me and follow that with which I have been sent and the example of those who disobey me and deny the truth I have brought.” (Bukhārī)
30. It is related that ‘Ubādah ibn as-Ṣāmit said, “We gave the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) our pledge to hear and obey in hardship and ease, with regard to both what we liked and what we disliked, even if there was prejudice against us; and not to dispute the authority of those placed over us unless they were proven guilty of clear disbelief in Allah Almighty; and to speak the truth wherever we were and not to fear in the way of Allah the blame of any critic.” (Bukhārī, Muslim)

31. It is related that ‘Ā’ishah said, “The Prophet (ﷺ) did something deliberately setting an easy example for other people, but some people refrained from doing it. When the Prophet (ﷺ) learned of that, he delivered a sermon, and after having praised Allah, he said, ‘What is wrong with certain people who refrain from doing something that I do? By Allah, I know Allah better than they do, and I am more afraid of Him than they are.’” (Bukhārī)

32. It is related that ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Amr ibn al-‘Āṣ said, “I heard the Prophet (ﷺ) say, ‘Allah will not remove knowledge after He has given it to you, but it will be removed when the people of knowledge die and ignorant people remain who will be asked to give fatāwa (legal ruling) and will give them according to their own opinions. They will go astray and lead others astray.’” (Bukhārī)

33. It is related that Anas ibn Mālik said that the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) said, “Have nothing to do with anyone who is averse to my Sunnah.” (Muslim)

34. ‘Ā’ishah related that the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) said, “Anyone who introduces an innovation in this affair of ours which is not part of it, it will be rejected.” (Bukhārī, Muslim)

1. This hadīth is among the most fundamental teachings of Islam. It is like a scale for the deeds. Just as any deed which is not done exclusively for Allah’s pleasure, the person who did it will not have a reward from Allah for it, so the same applies for a deed which has no proof from Allah and His Messenger (ﷺ). It will be thrown back on the doer. Every deed of a man must be sincerely for Allah’s sake and must be according to the teachings of Allah and His Messenger.
LOVE FOR ALLAH ﷺ AND HIS MESSENGER ﷺ

Allah, Exalted is He, says, "Say: 'If it be that your fathers, your sons, your brothers, your mates, or your kindred; the wealth that ye have gained, the commerce in which ye fear a decline, or the dwellings in which ye delight — are dearer to you than Allah, or His Messenger, or the striving in His cause, then wait until Allah brings about His Decision.' " (9: 24)

He ﷺ says, "O ye who believe! If any from among you turn back from his Faith, soon will Allah produce a people whom He will love as they will love Him." (5: 54)

He ﷺ says, "But those of faith are overflowing in their love for Allah." (2: 165)

35. It is related from Anas ibn Mālik Ḥ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, "Whoever possesses three attributes will experience the sweetness of belief: that he loves Allah and His Messenger more than anything else; that he loves someone for the sake of Allah alone; and that he would hate to revert to disbelief as much as he would hate to be thrown into the fire." (Bukhārī, Muslim)

36. From Anas ibn Mālik Ḥ who said, "The Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, 'None of you will believe until he loves me more than his parents, children and all the people.' " (Bukhārī)

37. It is related from Anas ibn Mālik Ḥ that the Messenger of Allah said, "None of you will believe until he loves me more than his family, his property and all people." (Muslim)
38. Anas ibn Mālik ☪ also said, “A bedouin said to the Messenger of Allah ☪, ‘When will the Hour come?’ The Messenger of Allah ☪ said, ‘What have you prepared for it?’ He said, ‘The love of Allah and His Messenger.’ He said, ‘You will be with the one you love.’ ” Anas ☪ said, “I love Allah and His Messenger and (I love) Abū Bakr and ‘Umar ☪ and I hope to be with them, even if I have not done what they have done.” (Muslim)

39. It is related that ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Umar ☪ said, “A man came to the Messenger of Allah ☪ and said, ‘O Messenger of Allah, what do you say about a man who loves some people but does not catch up with them (to do as they do)?’ The Messenger of Allah ☪ said, ‘A man is with the one he loves.’ ” (Muslim)

40. It is related from Abū Hurayrah ☪ that the Messenger of Allah ☪ said, “Allah Almighty said, ‘I declare war against anyone who shows hostility towards a friend of Mine. The most beloved thing with which My slave comes near to Me is what I have made obligatory for him; and My slave keeps on coming closer to Me through supererogatory actions until I love him. When I love him, I become his hearing with which he hears, his sight with which he sees, his hand with which he grips and his foot with which he walks. If he asks Me, I will give to him; and if he asks for My protection, I will protect him.’ ” (Bukhārī)

It may be that the (latter) are better than the (former): nor let some women mock others: it may be that the (latter) are better than the (former). in the spring kills by distending the stomach, or nearly so, apart from the animal that eats khaḍirah — it eats until its sides fill out, then faces towards the sun, chews the cud, defecates loosely and urinates, and then starts eating again. ON SPENDING IN GOOD WAYS

138. Jarîr ibn ‘Abdullâh ﷺ said, “Once we were with the Messenger of Allah ﷺ at the beginning of the day when some people came, barefoot, wearing striped garments or cloaks, girded with swords. Most of them were from Mudar. The face of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ changed because of his concern at what he saw of their extreme need. He went inside and then came out and commanded Bilâl to give the adhân and the iqâmah. He prayed and then recited, ‘O mankind! fear your Guardian Lord, who created you from a single person, created, out of it, his mate, and from them twain scattered (like seeds) countless men and women; – fear Allah, through Whom ye demand your mutual (rights), and be heedful of the wombs (that bore you): for Allah ever watches over you.’ (4: 1) and another verse which is at the end of Sûrah al-Hashr, ‘O you who believe! Fear Allah, and let every soul look to what (provision) it has sent forth for the morrow.’ (59: 18) (And said) ‘Let a man give from his dînâr and his dirham, from his clothes, from the šâr of his wheat, from the šâr of his dates,’ until he said, ‘even if it is a half of a date.’ A man of the Anṣâr brought a bag which he could barely get his arms round, indeed, he could not carry it.
Then the people came one after another until I saw two heaps of food and clothes and I saw the face of the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) shining as if it was illuminated. The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) said, ‘Anyone who initiates a good sunnah in Islam has its reward and the reward of whoever does it after him without that decreasing their reward in any way. I could not stay for long so I got up and said, ‘Messenger of Allah, my mother and father be your ransom! 143. Abū Umāmah reported that the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) said, “O son of Ādam, it is better for you to spend what is in excess of your needs and worse for you to keep it. Abū Hurayrah also said, “A man came to the Prophet (ﷺ) and said, ‘O Messenger of Allah, which ṣadaqah has the greatest reward?’ He said, ‘That you give ṣadaqah while you are healthy yet tight-fisted, in fear of poverty and desiring wealth. Do not put it off until death is near and you say, “So-and-so should have this much and so-and-so this much,” ’ when it already belongs to someone else.” (Bukhārī, Muslim)

The next day people said he had given ṣadaqah to a rich man. He said, ‘O Allah, praise is Yours. I have given ṣadaqah to a thief, an adulteress, and a rich man.’ Then someone came and said to him, ‘Your ṣadaqah to a thief might make him abstain from stealing. What you gave to the adulteress might make her abstain from her fornication. And what you gave to the rich man might make him reflect so that he will spend from what Allah has given him.’ ” (Bukhārī)

Then she got up and left. The Prophet (ﷺ) came to us and I told him about this and he said, ‘Anyone who is tried in any way on account of his daughters and is kind to them will find them to be a shield for him from the Fire.’ ” (Bukhārī, Muslim)
THE RIGHTS OF A NEIGHBOUR AND TAKING CARE OF HIM

Allah, Exalted is He, says, "Serve Allah, and do not associate any partners with Him, and do good—to parents, kinfolk, orphans, those in need, neighbours who are near, neighbours who are strangers, the companion by your side, the wayfarer (ye meet), and what your right hands possess." (4: 36)

258. ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Umar and ‘Ā’ishah ﷺ said, “The Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, ‘Jibril, peace be upon him, continued to advise me to be good to my neighbour until I thought that he would have me appoint him as my heir.’” (Bukhārī, Muslim)

If one of them sells his share without informing the other, the other has the right to claim it." (Muslim)

‘By Allah, I will not pay more than four hundred, either in one lump sum or in instalments.’ He said, ‘I have been offered five hundred cash and I refused them. If it were not that I heard the Prophet (ﷺ) say, “A neighbour is more entitled by reason of his proximity,” I would not give them to you for four hundred.’ ”

(Bukhārī)

1. This hadith indicates that because a neighbour has more right to buy the adjacent property, it follows that he also has a right to a more favourable deal. Abū Rāfi' agreed to sell to Sa'd for less than what others had offered him because of his right as a close neighbour, a right which Allah has commanded should be observed, as is stated in the commentary of al-Kirmānī on Bukhārī.

food.’ He said, ‘Divert them with something else. When they want supper, put them to sleep. When our guest comes in, put out the lamp and we will pretend that we are eating.’ So they sat down and the guest ate and they spent the night hungry. Then he related to us about the removal of trustworthiness, and he said, ‘A man will go to sleep and trustworthiness will be taken from his heart and its trace will remain like a small mark. Then he will go to sleep and trustworthiness will be taken from his heart and its trace will remain like a weal, as when an ember rolls onto his foot and it blisters up and you see it raised up with nothing in it.’ Then he took some pebbles and rolled them onto his foot.” (Bukhārī, Muslim)

There are five things by which you may be tested – and I seek refuge with Allah from them reaching you: fornication does not appear amongst people so that they are open about it without the plague spreading among them, as well as diseases which did not occur among their ancestors in the past. They do not give short measure or weight without being afflicted by drought, great trouble and tyranny from their ruler. They do not refuse to pay the zakāh due on their cattle without being denied rain from the sky. Were it not for the beasts, they would not have any rain at all. They do not break the contract with Allah and His Messenger without Allah giving their enemy power over them who then takes some of what they possess. 419. Anas ibn Mālik (r) said, “There were two brothers in the time of the Prophet (ﷺ). One of them used to come to the Prophet (ﷺ) and the other one worked for a living. The one who worked complained about his brother to the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) who said, ‘It might well be that you have your provision on account of him.’ ” (Tirmidhī)
ON TAQWA

The basis of taqwa is to protect oneself from associating things with Allah, then to protect oneself from acts of disobedience and then to protect oneself from doubtful things.

Allah, Exalted is He, says: “O you who believe, fear Allah as He should be feared and die not except in a state of Islam.” (3: 102)

He says: “So fear Allah as much as you can.” (64: 16)

He says: “If you fear Allah, He will grant you a Criterion (to judge between right and wrong), remove from you (all) evil (that may afflict) you, and forgive you.” (8: 29)

He says: “And for those who fear Allah, He (ever) prepares a way out, and He provides for him from (sources) he could never imagine.” (65: 2, 3)

He says: “The most honoured of you in the sight of Allah is (he who is) the most righteous of you.” (49: 13)

420. Abū Sa'īd al-Khudrī reported that the Messenger of Allah said, “This world is green and sweet. Allah will put you in charge of it to see how you act. Beware of this world and beware of women, for the first trial experienced by the Children of Israel was on account of women.” (Muslim)

421. Abū Dharr and Mu'ādh ibn Jabal reported that the Messenger of Allah said, “Fear Allah wherever you are and follow up an evil action with a good action which will wipe it out, and treat people well.” (Tirmidhī)
422. Abū Hurayrah ﷺ said, "The Messenger of Allah ﷺ was asked about the things most likely to bring people into the Fire. He said, 'The mouth and the genitals.' He was asked about the things most likely to bring people into the Garden. He said, 'Taqwā of Allah and good character.'" (Tirmidhī)

423. An-Nu'āmān ibn Bashīr ﷺ said, 'I heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say, 'The ḥalāl is clear and the ḥarām is clear. But between the two there are doubtful things about which many people have no knowledge. Whoever protects himself from doubtful matters keeps his ḍīn and his honour pure. Whoever gets involved in ambiguities falls into the ḥarām. Like a herdsman who grazes his animals near a private preserve (ḥima). He is bound to enter it. Every king has a private preserve and the private preserve of Allah on His earth are the things that He has made forbidden. There is a lump of flesh in the body, which when it is sound, the entire body is sound, and when it is corrupt, the entire body is corrupt — it is the heart.'" (Bukhārī, Muslimī)

424. Wābiṣah ibn Ma’bad ﷺ said, "I came to the Messenger of Allah ﷺ and he said, 'Have you come to ask about taqwā?' I said, 'Yes.' He said, 'Consult your heart. Piety is that with which the self is at rest and the heart is at rest and wrong action is what is closely knit in your self and echoes to and fro in your breast, even if people repeatedly give judgement in your favour.'" (Aḥmad, ad-Dārīmī)

425. ‘Aṭīyyah ibn ‘Urwaḥ ﷺ reported that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, "The slave will not be one of the people of taqwā until he abandons that in which there is no harm as a precaution against that in which there is harm." (Tirmidhī)

426. Al-Hasan ibn ‘Alī ﷺ said, "I memorised from the Messenger of Allah ﷺ, 'Leave what gives you doubt for what gives you no doubt.'” (Tirmidhī)
ON PERSEVERANCE IN ACTIONS AND HASTENING TO PERFORM THEM

Allah, Exalted is He, says, “Has not the time arrived for the believers that their hearts in all humility should engage in the remembrance of Allah and of the Truth which has been revealed (to them), and that they should not become like those to whom was given revelation aforetime, but long ages passed over them and their hearts grew hard?” (57: 16)

He ﷺ says: “And be not like a woman who breaks into untwisted strands the yarn she has spun after it has become strong.” (16: 92)

He ﷺ says: “And serve thy Lord until there come unto thee (the Hour that is) Certain.” (15: 99)

427. ‘A’ishah ﷺ reported that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, “Do good deeds properly, and abandon excess and know that it is not your deeds which will take you into the Garden (but the bounty of Allah) and that the action which Allah loves the most is the one which is most constant, even if it is little.” (Bukhārī)

428. Alqamah ibn Qays said, “I asked the Umm al-Mu’minin, ‘A’ishah ﷺ, ‘Umm al-Mu’minin! What were the actions of the Prophet ﷺ like? Did he single out any days?’ She said, ‘No. His action was regular and constant. Which of you is capable of what the Prophet ﷺ was capable of?’ ” (Bukhārī)

429. ‘A’ishah ﷺ said, “When the Messenger of Allah ﷺ missed the (tahajjud) prayer in the night due to illness or some other reason, he would pray twelve rak‘ah during the daytime.” (Muslim)
430. ‘Umar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb ﷺ said, “Anyone who sleeps through his ḥizb (supererogatory prayer or recitation of the Qur’an) or part of it, should recite it between the Fajr prayer and the Zuhr prayer. It will be written for him as if he had recited it in the night.” (Muslim)

431. Abū Hurayrah ﷺ said, “A man came to the Messenger of Allah ﷺ and said, ‘Messenger of Allah, which ṣadaqah has the greatest reward?’ He said, ‘That you give ṣadaqah while you are healthy yet tight-fisted, fearing poverty and desiring wealth. Do not put it off until death is near and you say, ‘So-and-so should have this much and so-and-so this much,” when it already belongs to someone else.’ ” (Bukhārī, Muslim)

432. Abū Hurayrah ﷺ reported that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, “Race to good actions before seven things. What are you waiting for except delayed poverty, wealth – which leads to extravagance, debilitating illness, doddering senility, sudden death or the Dajjāl? And he (the Dajjāl) is an evil unseen one to be waited for, or the Last Hour? The Last Hour will be more bitter and terrible.” (Tirmidhī)

433. Abū Umayyah ash-Sha’bānī ﷺ said, “I asked Abū Tha‘labah al-Khushanī, ‘Abū Tha‘labah! What do you say about this āyah: “Guard your own selves…” (5: 105)?’ He said, ‘By Allah, you have asked an expert about it! I asked the Messenger of Allah ﷺ about it. He said, “Rather enjoin the correct and forbid the incorrect until the time when you see avarice being obeyed, passion being followed, this world being preferred and everyone admiring his own opinion. Then you must guard your own self and leave what the masses are doing. Ahead of you are days requiring patience, and patience in those days will be like grasping live coals. The one who acts in those days will have the reward of fifty men who act as he does.” ’ ” (Abū Dāwūd, Tirmidhī and Ibn Mājah)
MEDITATION IN OBEDIENCE

Allah, Exalted is He, says: “I’a-Ha. We have not sent down the Qur’an to you to be (an occasion) for your distress.” (20: 1–2)

He ﷺ says, “Allah intends every facility for you; He does not want to put you in difficulties.” (2: 185)

He ﷺ says: “O People of the Book! Commit no excesses in your religion nor say of Allah aught but the truth.” (4: 171)

He ﷺ says: “On no soul doth Allah place a burden greater than it can bear.” (2: 286)

434. Abū Juḥayfah Wahb ibn ‘Abdullāh ﷺ said, “The Prophet ﷺ joined Salmān and Abu’l-Dardā’ ﷺ together in brotherhood. Salmān visited Abu’l-Dardā’ and saw Umm ad-Dardā’ poorly dressed and said to her, ‘What’s the matter with you?’ She said, ‘Your brother Abu’l-Dardā’ has no need of this world.’ Abu’l-Dardā’ came and made some food for him. Salmān said, ‘Eat.’ He said, ‘I am fasting.’ Salmān said, ‘I will not eat unless you eat.’ ” He said, “He ate. In the night, Abu’l-Dardā’ went to stand in prayer and Salmān said to him, ‘Sleep!’ and he slept. Then he got up again and Salmān said, ‘Sleep!’ At the end of the night, Salmān said, ‘Now get up and we will pray.’ Salmān said to him, ‘Your Lord has rights over you, your self has rights over you, and your wife has rights over you so give those with rights their due.’ Abu’l-Dardā’ came to the Prophet ﷺ and mentioned this to him and the Prophet ﷺ said, ‘Salmān spoke the truth.’ ” (Bukhārī)
435. ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Amr ibn al-‘Āṣ said, “The Prophet ﷺ was informed that I had said, ‘By Allah, I will fast all day and pray all night for as long as I live.’ The Prophet ﷺ said, ‘Did you say that?’ I said to him, ‘I did say it, may my father and mother be your ransom, Messenger of Allah.’ He said, ‘You will not be able to do it. So fast and break the fast, and pray and sleep. Fast three days of the month and since every good action is multiplied by ten that will be like fasting all the time.’ I said, ‘I can do better than that.’ He said, ‘Then fast one day and break the fast for two days.’ I said, ‘I can do better than that.’ He said, ‘Then fast one day and break the fast the next. That is the fast of (Prophet) Dāwūd, peace be upon him, and there is no fast better than that.’ Now (later in his old age he said) that I had accepted the three days which the Prophet ﷺ suggested would have been dearer to me than my family and my property.” (Bukhārī, Muslim)

436. Anas ibn Mālik ﷺ said, “Three people came to the houses of the wives of the Prophet ﷺ to ask about how the Prophet ﷺ worshipped. When they were told, it was as if they thought it was little and said, ‘Where are we in relation to the Messenger of Allah ﷺ who has been forgiven his past and future wrong actions?’ One of them said, ‘As for me, I will pray all night every night.’ Another said, ‘I will fast all the time and not break the fast.’ The other said, ‘I will withdraw from women and never marry.’ The Messenger of Allah ﷺ came to them and said, ‘Are you the ones who said such-and-such? By Allah, I am the one among you with the most fear and taqwā of Allah, but I fast and break the fast, I pray and I sleep, and I marry women. Whoever shuns my sunnah is not of me.’ ” (Bukhārī, Muslim)

437. Ib’n ‘Abbās ﷺ said, “Once while the Prophet ﷺ was speaking (giving the khutbah), he saw that a man remained standing, and he asked about him. They said, ‘It is Abū Isrā’il who vowed to stand in the sun without sitting down or seeking shade or speaking and (he vowed) to fast.’ The Prophet ﷺ said, ‘Command him to speak, seek shade and sit down but he should complete his fast.’ ” (Bukhārī)
438. Anas ibn Mālik Ṣaid, "The Prophet (ﷺ) entered the mosque and there was a rope hanging between two pillars. He said, 'What is this rope?' They said, 'The rope belongs to Zaynab. 439. 'Ā'ishah (erchant that once the Prophet (ﷺ) came when a woman was with her. He asked, "Who is this?" She replied, "So-and-so," and told him about the amount she prayed. He said, "Stop! You must only do what you are able. By Allah, Allah does not grow weary [of giving rewards] until you grow weary, and the din He likes best is the one in which there is constancy." (Bukhārī, Muslim)

440. 'Ā'ishah (erchant that the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) said, "When one of you dozes off while he is praying, he should go and lie down until sleepiness leaves him. If someone prays when he is drowsy, he may not know, perhaps he means to ask for forgiveness, but he is abusing himself." (Bukhārī, Muslim)

441. Abū Hurayrah (erchant that the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) said, "The din is easy. Anyone who makes the din too hard on himself will find that it overpowers him. (Bukhārī)

ON THE MERIT OF THE QUR’ĀN AND ITS RECITATION

Allah, Exalted is He, says: "This is the Book; in it is guidance sure, without doubt, to those who fear Allah; who believe in the unseen." (2: 2–3)

And He ﴿ says: "(It is) a Qur’ān which We have divided (into parts from time to time), in order that thou mightest recite it to men at intervals: We have revealed it by stages." (17: 106)

And He ﴿ says: "Recite the Qur’ān in slow, measured rhythmic tones." (73: 4)

And He ﴿ says: "And when they hear His revelations rehearsed, they find their faith strengthened." (8: 2)

And He ﴿ says: "Had We sent down this Qur’ān on a mountain, verily thou wouldst have seen it humble itself and cleave asunder for fear of Allah. Such are the similitudes which We propound to men, that they may reflect." (59: 21)

And He ﴿ says: "And We have indeed made the Qur’ān easy to understand and remember: then is there any that will receive admonition?" (54: 17)

444. Abū Umāmah ﴿ said, "I heard the Messenger of Allah ﴿ say, 'Recite the Qur’ān. It will come on the Day of Rising as an intercessor for its people.' " (Muslim)

445. 'Ā’ishah ﴿ reports that the Messenger of Allah ﴿ said, "The one who recites the Qur’ān fluently, is with the noble pious

446. Abū Mūsā al-Ash’arī reported that the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) said, “The example of the believer who recites the Qur’ān is like that of a citron – its scent is pleasant and its taste is good and the example of the believer who does not recite the Qur’ān is like that of a date – it has no scent but its taste is sweet. The example of a hypocrite who recites the Qur’ān is like that of basil – its scent is nice but its taste is bitter and the example of a hypocrite who does not recite the Qur’ān is like that of a colocynth – it has no scent and its taste is bitter.” (Bukhārī, Muslim)

447. Ibn ‘Umar reported that the Prophet (ﷺ) said, “There is no envy except for two things: a man to whom Allah has given the Qur’ān and he recites it during the day and night, and a man to whom Allah has given wealth and he spends it throughout the night and the day.” (Bukhārī, Muslim)

448. Ibn Mas‘ūd said, “The Prophet (ﷺ) said to me, ‘Recite the Qur’ān to me.’ I said, ‘Messenger of Allah, shall I recite to you when it was revealed to you?’ He said, ‘I want to hear it from someone other than myself.’ So I recited Sūrah an-Nisā’ to him until I reached this āyah, ‘How then if We brought from each people a witness, and We brought thee as a witness against these people?’ (4: 41) He said, ‘That is enough now,’ and I turned to him and his eyes were flowing with tears.” (Bukhārī, Muslim)

449. Abū Hurayrah reported Allah’s Messenger (ﷺ) as saying, “No group of people assemble in one of the houses of Allah (mosques) reciting the Book of Allah and studying it together but without which tranquillity descends upon them, mercy covers them, the angels surround them and Allah mentions them in the presence of those with Him.” (Muslim)

450. Abū Sa‘īd Rāfī‘ ibn al-Mu‘allā reported that, “The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) said to me, ‘Shall I teach you the greatest sūrah of the Qurʾān before you leave the mosque?’ and he took my hand. When we were about to leave, I said, ‘Messenger of Allah, you said, ‘I will teach you a sūrah of the Qurʾān?’ He said, ‘Praise be to Allah, Lord of the worlds’ (the Fātiḥah) it is the seven oft-repeated ones and the magnificent Qurʾān which I was given.’ ” (Bukhārī)

451. Ubayy ibn Kaʿb ☪ said, “The Messenger of Allah ☪ said, ‘Abu’l-Mundhir! Which āyah in the Book of Allah is the greatest according to you?’ I said, ‘Allah! 453. Abū Masʿūd al-Badrī ☪ reported that the Prophet ☪ said, “If anyone recites the two āyats at the end of Sūrah al-Baqarah at night, they will be enough for him (i.e. against any misfortune).” (Bukhārī, Muslim) which I did not forget afterwards. He (the Prophet) said, ‘It is as if they are two clouds, or two black canopies with light between them, or two flocks of birds in ranks pleading for the one who recited them.’” (Muslim)

456. Abū Umāmah al-Bāhili  said that he heard Allah’s Messenger  say, “Recite the Qur’ān, for on the Day of Resurrection it will come as an intercessor for those who recite it. Recite the two bright ones, al-Baqarah and ʿAl ‘Imrān, for on the Day of Resurrection they will come as two clouds or two shades, or two flocks of birds in ranks, pleading for those who recite them. Recite Sūrah al-Baqarah, for to take it is a blessing and to give it up is a cause of grief, and the magicians cannot confront it.” (Muslim)

462. ʿUqbah ibn ʿĀmir reported that the Messenger of Allah said, "Have you not seen the āyats sent down this night the like of which have never been seen before? (Bukhārī) position I left you in?” She said, “Yes.” So the Prophet ﷺ said, “Since leaving you I have said four phrases three times which, if weighed against all you have said today, would prove to be heavier: Subhāna’l-lah ‘adada khalqīhī wa riḍā nafsīhī wa zīnātā ‘arshihi wa nūdāda kalimātīh – Glory be to Allah, as much as the number of His creatures; and, in accordance with His good pleasure; and as much as the weight of His throne; and as much as the extent of His words.” (lit. according to the ink of His words.) (Muslim)

O Allah, if You know that this matter (and one should name the matter) is good for me regarding my din, my livelihood, and the outcome of my affair, (or “in its immediate consequences and its final term”), decree it for me and make it easy for me, then bless me in it. But if You know that this matter is bad for me regarding my religion, my livelihood, and the outcome of my affair (or “in its immediate consequences and its final term”), turn it away from me, turn me away from it, and decree the good for me wherever it is, then make me pleased with it.'’ (Bukhārī)

I acknowledge Your favour to me, and I acknowledge my wrong action, so pardon me, for none pardons wrong actions but You.”
